

Design Philosophy of the Logo for openSUSE Asia Summit 2024

Context and Representation

The logo designed for the openSUSE Asia Summit 2024, which will be held in Tokyo, Japan, encapsulates the fusion of Japanese modernity and tradition, as well as the values and spirit of the free software community.

1. Integration of Local Culture:

- Urban Landscape and Mount Fuji: The urban landscape of Tokyo, with its illuminated skyscrapers and the iconic Mount Fuji in the background, symbolizes the modernity and constant innovation that characterize Japan. The presence of Mount Fuji also evokes respect for nature and tradition.

- Torii: The torii, a traditional Japanese gate, represents the transition to a sacred or significant space. In the context of the logo, it can be interpreted as the gateway to knowledge, collaboration, and development in the field of free software.

2. Values of the openSUSE Community:

- Growth and Evolution: The silhouette of the city of Tokyo in the background highlights technological advancement and adaptability, reflecting how the openSUSE community continues to evolve and adopt new technologies.

- Collaboration and Community: The image also symbolizes the gathering of individuals from various parts of the world, uniting their skills and knowledge to contribute to the development of free software.

3. Visual Elements:

- Colors and Modern Design: The vibrant colors and contemporary design of the logo attract attention and convey a sense of dynamism and enthusiasm, which are fundamental to the philosophy of free software.

- openSUSE Mascot (Geeko): The inclusion of the Geeko mascot reiterates the friendly and accessible approach of the openSUSE community, emphasizing that free software is for everyone, from sysadmins and developers to desktop users.

4. Motto:

- “The makers' choice for sysadmins, developers, and desktop users”: This motto highlights the versatility and wide adoption of openSUSE, underscoring its usefulness and preference among different types of users.

Conclusion

The design of the logo for the openSUSE Asia Summit 2024 not only celebrates the event's location in Tokyo, Japan, but also communicates the core values of the openSUSE community: innovation, collaboration, and accessibility. It is a symbol of the union between the traditional and the modern, and of the continuous pursuit of growth and improvement in the realm of free software.
